Export Control Red Flags

These are “red flags” that need to be sent to the Export Control Office (ECO) for review. This does not necessarily mean that there are export controls on the project, only that there may be export controls and the ECO needs to review it further to make that determination. The “red flags” identified may come up at a variety of points during the project lifecycle.

Transferring Items & Data
- Shipping to a location outside of the U.S.
- Physical items (i.e. animals, biospecimens, reagents, special study equipment, substances, toxins, etc.)
- Transferring controlled data owned by OSU and/or a partner to a foreign person or entity.

Foreign Interactions
- Study running at international sites
- Any interaction with a T5 country (Cuba, Iran, North Korea, Sudan, & Syria)
- Foreign consultants or collaborators or sponsors
- Foreign visitors to an OSU facility

Proprietary or Restricted Work
- Requirements to approve personnel
- Restrictions on participation by any specific group of people
- Restrictions on publication, information or data

Last Updated: 08/31/2017