Red Flags for Export Control Review

These are “red flags” that need to be sent to the Export Control Office (ECO) at exportcontrol@osu.edu for review. This does not necessarily mean that there are export controls on your project, only that there may be restrictions requiring ECO to make a determination if the project needs to be managed as a restricted effort.

The “red flags” identified may come up at a variety of points during the contract negotiation process and need to be kept in mind when reviewing the RFP, proposal, prime award, sub award, modifications, etc.

Parties Involved
- Foreign sponsor, consultants or collaborators
- Foreign visitors to an OSU facility
- International Travel
- Prohibited party
- Any interaction with a T5 Country*

Tangible Items & Technology
- Received from a 3rd party or the sponsor
- High risk end use items
- Physical items (these are always controlled, but do not always require a license)
- Military End Use
- Shipping to a location outside of the U.S.

Access Restrictions
- Restrictions on publication, information or data
- Restrictions on participation by any specific group of people
- NIST, encryption requirements, or DFARs 252.204-7012
- CDA / NDA

*Visit us at orc.osu.edu/exportcontrol for more information.